DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- Claims 1-5, drawn to a method of identifying a test compound by binding to an Ornithine Carbamoyltransferase polypeptide, classified in class 435, subclass 32.
- II. Claims 42-44, drawn to a fungal growth assay when a fungus is brought into contact with a candidate antibiotic compound, classified in class 435, subclass 7.31.
- III. Claims 6-10, drawn to a fungal Ornithine Carbamoyltransferase activity assay, classified in class 435, subclass 4.
- IV. Claims 11-17, drawn to a method to detect inhibition of fungal OrnithineCarbamoyltransferase expression, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1.
- V. Claims 18-41, drawn to a method to differentially inhibit fungal growth and Ornithine Carbamoyltransferase expression, classified in class 435, subclass 69.1.

The inventions of groups I-V are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions in each of groups I-V are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP §

Art Unit: 1655

808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not disclosed as capable of use together. These methods have different modes of operation (e.g., the binding to Ornithine Carbamoyltransferase polypeptide of Group I vs the assays of Ornithine Carbamoyltransferase activity of Group III vs the fungal growth of Group II), and different functions (e.g., in Group IV the comparison of expression level of Ornithine Carbamoyltransferase in an organism before and after treatment vs in Group V the comparison of growth during treatment of organisms with differing forms of Ornithine Carbamoyltransferase). One would not have to practice the various inventions at the same time to practice just one invention alone ((MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01).

The inventions discussed above are independent and distinct, each from the other. They have acquired a separate status in the art as a separate subject for inventive effect and require independent searches. The search for each one of the above inventions is not coextensive particularly with regard to the literature search. Further, a reference that would anticipate the invention of one group would not necessarily anticipate or even make obvious another group. Finally, the consideration of patentability is different in each case. Thus, it would be an undue burden to examine all of the above inventions in one application.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification (class/subclass), a requirement for independent searches as explained above, and because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1655

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
